ELSEVIER

Review of Palaeobotany and Palynology 84 (1995) 485

REVIEW OF PALAEOBOTANY AND PALYNOLOGY

Contents Volume 84, 1994/1995

Special Issue: Dino 5—5th International Conference on Modern and Fossil Dinoflagellates (edited by C.A.F. Zonneveld and G.J.M. Versteegh)

Preface vii

Distribution of dinoflagellate cysts in recent marine sediments from the east Equatorial Atlantic (Gulf of Guinea)
F. Marret 1

On the biogeography of the family Podolampadaceae Lindemann (Dinophyceae)—vertical and latitudinal distribution
M.C. Carbonell-Moore 23

Calcareous dinoflagellate cysts in marine sediments of the Gulf of Naples (Mediterranean Sea)
M. Montresor, E. Montesarchio, D. Marino, A. Zingone 45

New calcareous dinoflagellates from the Upper Cretaceous white chalk of northern Germany
H. Willems 57

On the taxonomy of the family Podolampadaceae Lindemann (Dinophyceae) with descriptions of three new genera
M.C. Carbonell-Moore 73

Green autofluorescence — a new taxonomic feature for living dinoflagellate cysts and vegetative cells
M. Elbrächter 101

Electrophoretic analysis of polypeptides of Prorocentrum micans Ehrenberg exposed to toxic levels of copper
O.M. Lage, A.M. Parente, R. Salema 107

Preliminary palynological investigation of the Byers Group (Late Jurassic–Early Cretaceous), Livingston Island, Antarctic Peninsula
A.M. Duane 113

Palaeoenvironmental change in the Early Cretaceous Vocontian Basin (SE France) reflected by dinoflagellate cysts
M. Wilpshaar, H. Leereveld 121

Trinovantedinium boreale Bujak-dominated dinoflagellate assemblages in Eocene–Oligocene stratified water in northern Japan
H. Kurita, K. Matsuoka 129

Holocene dinoflagellate cyst assemblages in shallow water sediments of the Tsushima Islands, west Japan
K. Matsuoka 155

Biogeography of marine armoured dinoflagellates and dinocysts in the NE Atlantic and North Sea
J.D. Dodge 169

Determination of (palaeo-) ecological preferences of dinoflagellates by applying Detrended and Canonical Correspondence analysis to Late Pliocene dinoflagellate cyst assemblages of the south Italian Singa section
G.J.M. Versteegh, C.A.F. Zonneveld 181

Probable fossil zygnematacean algal spore genera
H.R. Grenfell 201

Palaeoclimatic and palaeo-ecological changes during the last deglaciation in the Eastern Mediterranean–implications for dinoflagellate ecology
K.A.F. Zonneveld 221

"Phytodebris" from Scottish Silurian and Lower Devonian continental deposits
C.H. Wellman 255

The ultrastructure of voltzialean pollen
T.N. Taylor, L. Grauvogel-Stamm 281

A palynological study of the Lower Carboniferous Lydebrook Sandstone and adjacent late Wenlock and Langsettian strata, Shropshire, England
N. Turner, E. Spinner, K.J. Dorning 305

A pollen morphological study of Dyschoriste Nees and Chaetacanthus Nees (Acanthaceae: Ruellieae)
C.A. Furness 331
Polymorphisme pollinique du genre tropical Dialium L. (Caesalpinioideae, Légumineuse)–implications biogéographiques et évolutives en Afrique
S. Senesse 347
Exploration and calibration of pollen/vegetation relationships: a PC program for the extended R-value models
S.T. Jackson, T. Webb III, I.C. Prentice, J.E. Hansen 365
Extinct conifers and conifer diversity in the Early Pleistocene of western Tasmania
G.J. Jordan 375
Cycadales and Bennettitales leaf compressions of the Bohemian Cenomanian, Central Europe
J. Kvaček 389
A verticillate puzzle: Nemejcia eocenica Knobloch and Kvaček, form-gen. et sp. nov. (?Angiosperms) from the Upper Eocene of Central Europe
E. Knobloch, Z. Kvaček 413
On some Cretaceous pseudofrenelopsids with a brief review of cheirolepidiaceous conifers in China
Z. Zhou 419
Inventory of Mesozoic and Cenozoic woods from Equatorial and North Equatorial Africa
M. Dupéron-Laudoueneix, J. Dupéron 439

Basic Questions in Paleontology: Geologic Time, Organic Evolution, and Biological Systematics, by O. Schindewolf—W.A. DiMichele 481
Pollen Grains of New Zealand Dicotyledonous Plants, by N. T. Moar—M.E. Dettmann 482